Talking about British schools, it's hard to know where to begin because there's so much to say. First of all, children start school at the age of four or five. After primary school they go to secondary school which is usually from 11 to 16. But of course many pupils stay at school until they are 18.

What British students study at school seems very much the same to me as what they study in Russian schools. They study English, and the first modern foreign language is usually French. The second foreign language is German or Spanish or sometimes Russian.

Russian isn't taught in very many schools, I'm sorry to say. I think Russian is a very important language because Russia is a very important world power. And I would like Russian to be taught more often. My children, Kathy and Robert, learn Russian at their school in Newcastle.

Some subjects taught in Britain are not the same as those taught at your school. Some of them are Religious Studies, Art and Drama, and Science. For instance, Science is a mixture of Biology, Chemistry and Physics and is taught in a very practical way.

In fact I never liked any of these subjects.

That's why I teach English Literature at Newcastle University now!
